Final Edition 2016- 2017

Dear Parents

My final newsletter of the year: so much to say and so little time and space to say it...

I hope you have all enjoyed the children's summer concerts over the last two days, we certainly have.

Last week we had sports day, a wonderful day for all of us...

The end of a school year is always such a busy time, as we wrap up this year and prepare for the beginning of the next... Saying farewell to our year sixes and some of our staff as they set off for pastures new, while preparing to welcome those who will join us in September (please see below for a full staff and class list for next year). Our current Reception students moving up to year one will need to remember to enter via the Harvist Road gate in September, parents are invited to escort them to their new classroom for the first two days.

We are proud to report that year six excelled themselves in their SATs examinations this year, with a combined result for reading, writing and mathematics of 70%, up from last year's 57%, and 9% above the national average of 61%! Well done to the children and the year six teaching team.

Yesterday year six went to the para athletics at the Olympic stadium, they had an amazing time. While all our 100% attendees for 2016-17 went to the Lexi as a treat to watch the Lego Movie.

Finally, Adam Qureshi, one of our current year six students, was in the Guardian yesterday talking about his experience of moving up to secondary school.

I hope you all have a wonderful summer and we look forward to welcoming everyone back on Thursday 7th September from 8.30am.

Warmest regards
Janine Ryan
