Morning Message

Goeie more (Afrikaans)

We hope you're having a lovely morning 😊

Do you fancy a trip out to a museum today? If so, then you're in luck! Click here to take a virtual tour through more than 60 galleries in the British Museum. You start in front of the Rosetta Stone, which was crucial to helping scholars understand Ancient Egyptian hieroglyphs.

Remember to attend your briefings at 8:40am and 2:00pm.

Writing

Today you're continuing with your first-person narratives. There are lots of different events in this one, so it is important to link your ideas together clearly.

Please make sure that you upload your final written paragraph and not just the plan onto Seesaw. Please find your lesson here and the planning sheet and editing checklist here.
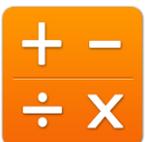

We look forward to reading your work!

Reading

Good morning to all you avid readers! It's been fantastic to see all of you so engaged in our class novel 'Floodland' both in your writing and in your reading lessons. Today we are going reading in unison (together) and afterwards you will complete these questions. Here is your Do Now to revise vocabulary. Remember you must mark your work before uploading to Seesaw 😊
